CARS Strategies: PRACTICE

- Practice daily.
- Work on accuracy first, and then timing.
- Ideally, you should be writing a CARS test every fourth day for 8 weeks.
- Incorporate CARS as the second thing you do during your day. This corresponds to the real day, during which you'll be writing chem/phys section first and then the CARS section.
- Reviewing is KEY when practicing. Do not review CONTENT; review strategies and reasoning.

Strategies: ACTIVE READING

- Visualize
- Highlight
- Write down main idea of the passage
- Don't skip lines
- Things to keep in mind: topic of passage, tone, shift in direction, extreme views, different point of views, noun drops, conclusions
- Have fun while reading - convince your brain that it's a FUN and exciting passage
